The Continuing Chronicles of Samira Weinstein

Samira Weinstein, 19, is a thespian and musician currently based in Albany, NY. They attend The City College of New York as an undergraduate, working towards a Bachelors Degree in Theater. They've been performing live music in a variety of bands since age 13, being trained in classical and in Jazz; they've also participated in school and community theater, and aspire to run their own Theater company. Them being a poet, a playwright, and musical composer, it seems only appropriate to say, "the rest and the best is yet to be written"!
